The Collins Cobuild Dictionary was first published in 1987 by

HarperCollins in partnership with the University of Birmingham's COBUILD (Collins Birmingham University International Language Database) project. The project aimed to create a new kind of dictionary based on real language data derived from extensive corpora—large collections of written and spoken texts. Unlike traditional dictionaries that rely heavily on literary sources or prescriptive rules, the Cobuild approach emphasizes actual language use. This shift allowed the dictionary to reflect current and authentic language patterns, making it especially valuable for language learners.
